The Fraser Coast region is located a 45 minute flight or three and a half hours drive north of Brisbane. Hervey Bay on the Fraser Coast is a great location for international students, with a superb climate, calm waters, pristine beaches and relaxed lifestyle.

Bordered by 40 kilometres of beautiful, calm beaches, the Fraser Coast region has a population of approximately 95 000. Hervey Bay's population of 52 000 is increasing rapidly as people continually move to the region.

A unique natural environment, Fraser Island has unspoiled beaches, rainforests and fresh water lakes – all attractions for eco-tourists from around the globe.

Hervey Bay has become known as the whale-watching capital of the world. Humpback whales and their calves rest and play in the Bay's sheltered waters between August and November.

Hervey Bay's esplanade is lined with a range of street cafés, fine dining restaurants and clubs. You can enjoy barbecues on the impressive foreshore or hire bicycles, jet skis and canoes, while swimming in the safe protected waters of the Bay.
