SYNOPSIS

This course is concerned with building a practical foundation in all six studio areas and in Curatorial Studies. By exploring a variety of methods and materials students will be encouraged to develop their technical, conceptual and observational skills. Studio practice will be supplemented with project work which will be undertaken in the two-dimensional disciplines of Drawing, Painting and Printmaking and in the three-dimensional disciplines of Ceramics, Sculpture and Textiles, and Curatorial Studies. Studio practice will be reinforced by lectures and discussion on contemporary arts/crafts practice, analysing the work of established professionals in order to increase student insight into concepts expressed visually in all aspects of studio practice. This will be underpinned by history and theory lectures in associated visual arts courses.

OBJECTIVES

On successful completion of this course students will be able to:

- demonstrate an understanding of materials and how to manipulate them through practice and experimentation in each of the two- and three-dimensional areas offered;
- demonstrate an ability to apply principles of design to their two- and three-dimensional product;
- demonstrate the ability to see things analytically, and record or exhibit them appropriately;
- demonstrate the ability to use materials and techniques to conceptually convey ideas;
- demonstrate a growing appreciation of the nexus between theory and practice;

- demonstrate skills in the correct, safe handling of materials and processes in each workshop discipline;
- demonstrate the responsible attitudes and work habits essential for continuing studio practice.
- demonstrate an ability to understand curatorial issues and concepts.

  - 4 At assessment, students will present work from all their studio areas as directed by the lecturers in charge of these areas and will be in attendance to discuss their work.
  - 5 It is essential from the point of view of sequential learning and an understanding of workplace, health and safety issues and practices that students aim at full attendance in all workshops. Medical certification or appropriate documentation must be produced in cases of non attendance.
  - 6 A student who does not complete up to 2 of the 7 areas but has made an obvious attempt may be given the opportunity of a make up (IM), however anyone not completing 3 or more of the 7 areas without good reason or a student who does not attempt all areas without due reason will fail.
  - 7 The final grade as per USQ's grading system will be arrived at by averaging the percentage of marks in each of the seven areas.
