RATIONALE

This course exists to satisfy the need for flexibility within a course in order to cater for the widely varying interests and chosen specialisations of students.

SYNOPSIS

This course provides the opportunity for a student to pursue an area of study which will complement the other studies in the course. Typically the course will consist of specialised investigations extending knowledge and skills in a certain area. The studies could involve, for example, a directed reading course, extension of the project (where appropriate), or some other approved activity which would complement the student's studies in the course.

OBJECTIVES

On successful completion of this course students should be able to:

- demonstrate knowledge and skills in the complementary study area.
