RATIONALE

An awareness and understanding of the growth and development of young children is essential for those working in early childhood settings. Cognisance of a diverse array of learning and development theories coupled with the power to observe from many perspectives, enhances the early childhood educator's capacity to appreciate young children as dynamic learners and to plan a responsive curriculum.

SYNOPSIS

This course is an in depth study of growth, development and learning of children from pre-birth through eight within a socio-cultural constructivist framework. The study program is a foundation course and explores child development theories in depth whilst challenging the student to reflect on the "many ways of understanding how children develop and learn, many ways to teach, and a range of curricular options" (Lubeck, 1996, p147). The course examines past and contemporary theories, recognising that theories change, as a result of influences of the context in which they operate and the individual and social values "people develop as participants in cultural communities. Their (peoples) development can be understood only in the light of the cultural practices and circumstances of their communities - which also change" (Rogoff, 2003 pp3-.4). A feature of the course is the acquisition of skills in child study through guided observation activities applied in ECP1002 Professional Experience. The course emphasises literacy correctness in all its forms. IMPORTANT NOTE: Working with Children: State law in Queensland requires that all adults (including university students, pre-service educators, trainers, vocational teachers, industry educators) working with children under the age of 18, in the State of Queensland*, obtain approval before commencing such work. Many education courses include a practical component (professional experience, project work, research, assessment etc.) that may require engagement with children under the age of 18. It is your responsibility to ensure that you possess a current suitability card (Blue Card) before commencing any practical components of this course. DO NOT PARTICIPATE IN ANY PRACTICAL EXPERIENCE WITH CHILDREN UNDER 18 UNLESS YOU POSSESS A CURRENT 'BLUE CARD'. For further information:

<http://www.childcomm.qld.gov.au/employment/bluecard/informationSheets.html> *If you are undertaking practical experience outside the State of Queensland, Australia you should check local requirements.

8. identify and reflect on practical and pedagogical interactions of theory in everyday early childhood teaching practice
