OTHER-REQUISITES

Pre-requisite: All students will require access to an early childhood centre or access to a gymnasium with a Kindergym program, child observation facilities or a child/children known to them privately, in order to observe motor development and try out ideas for motor programs.

RATIONALE

Smaller backyards, society's preoccupation for food, lack of time, overscheduled children as well as negative attitudes to exercise are some of the many reasons in the 21st century that are contributing to a substantial number of children being overweight or obese, having low fitness levels and moderate to poor motor skills. There is no dispute about the importance of movement education, yet there is a serious problem with its delivery. Early childhood educators have a vital role in supporting movement opportunities and the creative solving of problems through movement exploration. Early childhood educators require knowledge of the developmental nature and contextual influences on physical development in order to offer movement opportunities suited to the individual child.

SYNOPSIS

This course examines young children's exploration of space, materials, environments and the potential of their own bodies through physical activity to establish a basis for skilful movement, creative problem solving and a positive image of self and active play. The course introduces the importance of movement education in the 21st century, customising movement experiences for individual development and group collaboration. The course addresses play as an educative vehicle that supports movement as well as emphasising the importance of adding moments of movement into the day for infants. Physical experiences for young children from birth to eight years will be related to children's thinking, sequential movement development, and contextual issues. Emphasis will be placed on children's personal achievement, self esteem and attitude towards physical activity. This course emphasises literacy correctness in all its forms.

IMPORTANT NOTE: Working with Children: State law in Queensland requires that all adults (including university students, pre-service educators, trainers, vocational teachers, industry educators) working with children under the age of 18, in the State of Queensland*, obtain approval before commencing such work. Many education courses include a practical component (professional experience, project work, research, assessment etc.) that may require engagement with children under the age of 18. It is your responsibility to ensure that you possess a current suitability card (Blue Card) before commencing any practical components of this course. DO NOT PARTICIPATE IN ANY PRACTICAL EXPERIENCE WITH CHILDREN UNDER 18 UNLESS YOU POSSESS A CURRENT 'BLUE CARD'. For further information: <http://www.childcomm.qld.gov.au/employment/bluecard/informationSheets.html> *If you are undertaking practical experience outside the State of Queensland, Australia you should check local requirements.
