SYNOPSIS

The material covered in the course will build upon the subject matter dealt with in the course Revenue Law and Practice and students will be expected to have retained a working knowledge of material covered in that course. This course looks in detail at taxation issues not covered there in order to provide students with a greater understanding and knowledge of the Australian taxation system. Specifically it covers taxation of various business organisations, superannuation funds, and termination payments. It also examines Fringe Benefits Tax, International tax and the taxation of 'special' taxpayers such as primary producers.

OBJECTIVES

The course objectives define the student learning outcomes for a course. The assessment item/s that may be used to assess student achievement of an objective is/are shown in parentheses after each objective. On successful completion of this course, students should be able to:

1. apply the principles of taxation of entities such as trusts, companies, partnerships and superannuation funds (Assignment, Examination)
2. calculate the taxable income and apply appropriate rates of tax to the taxpayer in areas covered by the course (Assignment, Examination)

3. explain the advantages and disadvantages of various entity structures in relation to taxation, for example, companies, trusts, partnership, superannuation funds (Assignment, Examination)
4. articulate the tax implications of transactions which have international aspects (Examination)
5. explain the boundaries of legitimate tax planning and effects of Part IVA (Assignment, Examination)
6. explain and apply the special rules relating to the taxation of primary producers (Examination)
7. describe the system of taxing fringe benefits, and perform necessary calculations in relation to the imposition of FBT (Examination)
8. apply the technique of analysis of problems to tax law, including the application of the appropriate law to the problem and advising on the probable outcome (Assignment, Examination)
9. demonstrate satisfactory skills in communication (Assignment, Examination).
