RATIONALE

Teachers need an understanding of theory about second language learning. They also need to know how principles have been translated successfully into practice in the classroom.

SYNOPSIS

This course tries to link theory and practice together. The course looks at the teaching of the four macroskills: listening, speaking, reading and writing with vocabulary and grammar incorporated. Language learning objectives and outcomes are based on a student learning orientation aimed at developing communicative competence in contexts that are socially and culturally relevant.

OBJECTIVES

The course objectives define the student learning outcomes for a course. The assessment item(s) that may be used to assess student achievement of an objective are shown in parenthesis. At the end of this course students should be able to demonstrate an understanding of:

1. approaches to second language teaching and teaching practice (1-5); (Assignment 1)
2. macroskills and functions in developing language proficiency (2-5); (Assignment 2)
3. inter-relationships that exist among the macroskills by citing research evidence which shows such relationships (3, 5); (Assignment 2)

4. tasks and techniques used in classrooms in each of the macroskills, showing how they are derived from theory, supported by research and expressed in learner based objectives and outcomes (1, 3, 5); (Assignment 2)
5. how vocabulary development takes place and techniques that can be used to enhance such development in socio-cultural contexts that are relevant (3, 4, 5); (Assignment 2)
6. the place of grammar in second language teaching and communicative competence (2, 4, 5). (Assignment 2)
