SYNOPSIS

The Studio Project constitutes a major commitment as it necessitates the production of a body of original work taken through to exhibition status. The mounting of the resulting exhibition in a thoroughly considered, appropriate and approved space is an assessable component of the course. To support the studio project students are required to write a dissertation that articulates their practice. This paper will detail the concept of the work in the context of personal development, supported by appropriate work-in-progress documentation. Its placement in a wider national and international context will be important. Reference must be made to an historical and cultural perspective that indicates an understanding of contemporary art theory.

OBJECTIVES

On successful completion of the Studio project exhibition and dissertation students should be able to demonstrate:

1. the ability to produce and analyse a body of work in a selected studio;
2. an advanced ability to document in detail the stages in the process and development of the work supported by research and contextual analysis;
3. the skills necessary to curate an exhibition of a body of original work in an approved gallery space.

ASSESSMENT NOTES

- 9 Assessment will be before a selected panel comprising an invited external adviser and a member of staff and will involve the exhibition of a body of work. A component of this assessment will be the presentation and discussion of an oral synopsis of the dissertation by the student.
- 10 The dissertation shall be typed and bound and shall conform with the Faculty of Arts style guide for the presentation of theses and dissertations.
- 11 It is the responsibility of the student to ensure that all chapter drafts, as well as the final draft of their dissertation, be written in an acceptable standard of English expression. If students' initial work is not of an acceptable standard, students will be encouraged to use the services of a copy-editor, or to seek assistance from a competent writer of English. It is not the supervisor's principal role to correct English spelling, expression or grammar, although appropriate advice will be given. Dissertations or drafts of chapters of dissertations that are not expressed to a standard of English expression acceptable to the supervisor will be referred back to the student for correction, and will not be submitted for examination until corrected. Students who fail to address this aspect of their dissertation risk failing the course. Any expenses incurred in having drafts checked by copy-editors will be met by the student. Please also note that while copy-editing may be carried out by someone who is not the student, all the substantial content of the dissertation must be the student's own work
- 12 Students are strongly advised to maintain regular contact with their supervisor.
