SYNOPSIS

This course introduces students to the theory that is integral to financial accounting practice. Using established accounting theories, the factors or incentives that exist for preparers of financial reports are investigated. These factors require consideration when making financial reporting decisions or evaluating the decisions of others. The primary objective of this course is to enhance students' awareness of the issues surrounding decision making in relation to financial reporting practice. This includes an investigation of the popular theories and evidence in regard to financial reporting. The financial reporting issues addressed include the choice of accounting methods, voluntary disclosures, environmental performance reporting and the regulation of financial reporting.

OBJECTIVES

On completion of this course students will be able to:

1. demonstrate effective written communication skills to a tertiary academic standard (as specified in Communication skills handbook for accounting)
2. demonstrate the ability to undertake independent research outside the prescribed course materials and communicate those research findings in assessment tasks

3. explain how the development and application of accounting theories enhances decision making in accounting and identify the factors to consider when making or evaluating those decisions
4. critically evaluate conceptual framework projects and different accounting models with respect to the fundamental problem of financial reporting
5. evaluate the influence of accounting information on investor behaviour and share prices using the empirical evidence from capital markets research
6. outline, apply and evaluate the accounting theories that are used to explain and predict accounting practices
7. outline the contribution that behavioural research has made towards understanding the role of accounting information and the influence of accounting information on behaviour and decision processes
8. assess the construction and application of accounting theories from an ethical perspective
9. critically evaluate each of the accounting theories and research methods covered in this course and make a determination as to their usefulness to accounting practice
10. apply the insights gained from the theories and evidence presented in this course to the issue of whether the reporting of accounting information should be regulated.

ASSESSMENT NOTES

- 1 Assignments: (i) The due date for an assignment is the date by which a student must electronically submit the assignment via the assignment drop box located on the USQ Study Desk for this course. It is the responsibility of the student to confirm successful submission of assignments. The onus is on the student to provide proof of submission, if requested by the examiner. (ii) Students must retain a copy of each assignment submitted for assessment. This must be produced within 24 hours if required by the examiner. (iii) The examiner may grant an extension of the due date of an assignment in extenuating circumstances. If students wish to claim extenuating circumstances, the student must apply via email to the examiner stating the extenuating circumstances PRIOR to relevant due date. The examiner shall consider the statement and decide on the outcome. If granted an extension, the student shall provide, via post or facsimile, validated documentary evidence confirming the extenuating circumstances outlined in their email and a copy of the extension approval emailed by the examiner. No extension will be granted if an extension is applied for after the due date of the assignment, for example, a request for an extension included with the late assignment will not be granted. (iv) Students must use their name as the file name for the assignment and ensure that the document is adequately named for identification purposes. (v) The examiner will not accept submission of assignments by facsimile or email. (vi) Students who do not have regular access to Internet services or who are otherwise disadvantaged by these regulations may be given special consideration. They should contact the examiner to negotiate such special arrangements PRIOR to the submission date. (vii) In the event that a due date for an assignment falls on a local public holiday in their area, such as a show holiday, the due date for the assignment will be the next day. Students are to note on the first page of the assignment document the date of the public holiday for the examiner's convenience.

- 2 Referencing in assignments: Harvard (AGPS) is the referencing system required in this course. Students should use Harvard (AGPS) style in their assignments to format details of the information sources they have cited in their work. The Harvard (AGPS) style to be used is defined by the USQ Library's referencing guide at <http://www.usq.edu.au/library/help/referencing/default.htm>.
- 3 Course weightings: Course weightings of topics should not be interpreted as applying to the number of marks allocated to questions testing those topics in an examination paper. The examination may test material already tested in assignments.
- 4 Deferred work: Students who, for medical, family/personal, or employment-related reasons, are unable to complete an assignment or to sit for an examination at the scheduled time may apply to defer an assessment in a course. Such a request must be accompanied by appropriate supporting documentation. One of the following temporary grades may be awarded: IDS (Incomplete - Deferred Examination); IDM (Incomplete Deferred Make-up); IDB (Incomplete - Both Deferred Examination and Deferred Make-up).
