SYNOPSIS

The relationship between employers (or managers) and employees throughout the world has faced enormous pressures arising from economic globalisation, increased domestic and international competition and other political and economic pressures to make workplaces more flexible, efficient and productive. 'Global Issues in Employment Relations' will assist students to understand the complexity of this relationship by focusing on several critical issues surrounding the management of the contemporary employment relationship. The course adopts a critical perspective on a range of issues arising from the relationship between managers and other employees. 'Global Issues in Employment Relations' introduces the management student to industrial relations theory and identifies the key frameworks which govern management perspectives on the employment relationship. The course considers from a critical perspective human resource management, collective bargaining, employee participation and trade unionism. Each of the topics in this course will be considered in its global context, and be of relevance for students in most countries.

OBJECTIVES

The course objectives define the student learning outcomes for a course. On successful completion of this course, students should be able to:

1. demonstrate advanced theoretical and practical understanding of, and be able to apply analytical and critical thinking to, aspects pertaining to the changing nature and context of the employment relationship

2. demonstrate advanced theoretical and practical understanding of, and be able to apply analytical and critical thinking to, aspects pertaining to the roles that power, justice and culture play in the employment relationship
3. demonstrate advanced theoretical and practical understanding of, and be able to apply analytical and critical thinking to, aspects pertaining to the role that managers and managerial strategies, unions, employer associations, governments, collective bargaining, employee participation, grievance and discipline play in the employment relationship
4. demonstrate advanced theoretical and practical understanding of, and be able to apply analytical and critical thinking to, aspects pertaining to 'best practices' in relation to the management of employment termination, downsizing and redundancy
5. demonstrate advanced theoretical and practical understanding of, and be able to apply analytical and critical thinking to, aspects pertaining to employment relations in an international comparative context
6. evaluate and debate contemporary issues in employment relations.

IMPORTANT ASSESSMENT INFORMATION

- Attendance requirements:

If you are an international student in Australia, you are advised to attend all classes at your campus. For all other students, there are no attendance requirements for this course. However, it is the students' responsibility to study all material provided to them or required to be accessed by them to maximise their chance of meeting the objectives of the course and to be informed of course-related activities and administration.
- Requirements for students to complete each assessment item satisfactorily:

To satisfactorily complete an individual assessment item a student must achieve at least 50% of the marks. (Depending upon the requirements in Statement 4 below, students may not have to satisfactorily complete each assessment item to receive a passing grade in this course.)
- Penalties for late submission of required work:

If students submit assignments after the due date without prior approval of the examiner, then a penalty of 5% of the total marks gained by the student for the assignment may apply for each working day late up to ten working days at which time a mark of zero may be recorded.
- Requirements for student to be awarded a passing grade in the course:

To be assured of receiving a passing grade a student must achieve at least 50% of the total weighted marks available for the course.
- Method used to combine assessment results to attain final grade:

The final grades for students will be assigned on the basis of the aggregate of the weighted marks obtained for each of the summative assessment items in the course.

- 6 Examination information:
There is no examination in this course.
- 7 Examination period when Deferred/Supplementary examinations will be held:
Not applicable.
- 8 University Regulations:
Students should read USQ Regulations 5.1 Definitions, 5.6 Assessment, and 5.10 Student Academic Misconduct for further information and to avoid actions which might contravene university regulations. These regulations can be found at <http://www.usq.edu.au/corporateservices/calendar/part5.htm>. Students should also read the Faculty of Business Procedures which can be found at <http://www.usq.edu.au/business/aboutfob.htm>.

ASSESSMENT NOTES

- 1 Assignments: (i) The due date for an assignment is the date by which a student must despatch the assignment to the USQ. The onus is on the student to provide proof of the despatch date, if requested by the examiner. (ii) Students must retain a copy of each assignment submitted for assessment. This must be produced within 24 hours if required by the examiner. (iii) In accordance with university policy, the examiner may grant an extension of the due date of an assignment in extenuating circumstances. (iv) The examiner will normally only accept assessments that have been written, typed or printed on paper-based media. (v) The examiner will not accept submission of assignments by facsimile. (vi) Students who do not have regular access to postal services or who are otherwise disadvantaged by these regulations may be given special consideration. They should contact the examiner to negotiate such special arrangements. (vii) In the event that a due date for an assignment falls on a local public holiday in their area, such as a show holiday, the due date for the assignment will be the next day. Students are to note on the assignment cover the date of the public holiday for the examiner's convenience.
- 2 Referencing in assignments: Harvard (AGPS) is the referencing system required in this course. Students should use Harvard (AGPS) style in their assignments to format details of the information sources they have cited in their work. The Harvard (AGPS) style to be used is defined by the USQ Library's referencing guide at <http://www.usq.edu.au/library/help/referencing/default.htm>.
- 3 Course weightings: Course weightings of topics should not be interpreted as applying to the number of marks allocated to questions.
