SYNOPSIS

This course is concerned with building a practical foundation in all five visual arts studio areas. By exploring a variety of methods and materials students will be encouraged to develop their technical, conceptual and observational skills. Studio practice will be supplemented with project work which will be undertaken in the two-dimensional disciplines of Drawing, Painting and Printmaking and in the three-dimensional disciplines of Ceramics, and Spatial Construction. Studio practice will be reinforced by lectures and discussion on contemporary arts/crafts practice, analysing the work of established professionals in order to increase student insight into concepts expressed visually in all aspects of studio practice. This will be underpinned by history and theory lectures in associated visual arts courses. NOTE: Arts Management is the only area available to External students.

OBJECTIVES

On completion of this course students will be able to demonstrate:

1. an understanding of materials and how to manipulate them through practice and experimentation in each of the two- and three-dimensional areas offered;
2. an ability to apply principles of design to their two- and three-dimensional product;
3. the ability to see things analytically, and record or exhibit them appropriately;
4. the ability to use materials and techniques to conceptually convey ideas;
5. skills in the correct, safe handling of materials and processes in each workshop discipline;
6. demonstrate management, planning and organisation skills, including responsible attitudes and work habits required for continuing studio practice;

7. an ability to understand curatorial issues and concepts;
8. a responsibility for studio space including cleaning of work areas and respect for equipment;
9. written communication skills appropriate to the task of producing a journal and project folio;
