Faculty of Arts

THE UNIVERSITY OF SOUTHERN QUEENSLAND

From the Dean

The Faculty of Arts has sustained a commendable record in the production of research and scholarship in the form of books, chapters, refereed articles, and conference papers. These are formally recorded in the University's Annual Report.

This official record, however, represents only the tip of the iceberg of the Faculty's output. Beneath the surface lies the bulk of research, scholarly, and professional activities that make up the daily routine of most staff. These range from local or regional exhibitions, performances, and recordings, to conference presentations, adjudications, and consultancies, to diverse community service contributions, as well as those print outputs – such as reviews, reports, and some books/articles – that do not qualify for the tip of the iceberg. These activities provide not only the seedbed from which more substantial projects grow, but also the ongoing intellectual engagement necessary to university life.

As these fundamental activities are not recorded elsewhere, this report is my formal acknowledgement of the contribution that all staff make to the academic life of the Faculty. I congratulate staff on their level and range of research, scholarly, and professional activities. Keep up the good work!

Maurice French
Dean
Faculty of Arts

Foreword ...

The Faculty of Arts acknowledges two definitions of research – one which is associated with the historical development of the human sciences and print scholarship, the other devised by the OECD which recognises, as stated below, the cultural and intellectual value of creative work pursued across a wide range of arts disciplines.

Research and experimental development comprise creative work undertaken on a systematic basis in order to increase the stock of knowledge, including knowledge of man [sic], culture and society, and the use of this stock of knowledge to devise new applications. OECD.

Unfortunately, administrative difficulty in documenting and classifying the great variety of original creative work by Australian university academic staff has disappeared this category of work from DEST's Research Data Collection. There is no doubt, however, that this Faculty and USQ is well aware and very appreciative of the creative work of its staff, and takes pride in acknowledging here a wide range of high quality achievement in the Visual, Performing and Media Arts. Also listed here is a record of the work that Faculty staff has undertaken as part of their commitment to professional and community service. Australia's scholarly, arts and professional communities are greatly enriched by the willing, very often voluntary work of staff. On behalf of the Faculty, it is with pleasure and respect that I put on record an account of the energetic work of staff. Congratulations to all on your contributions and achievements.
