SYNOPSIS
This course introduces students to a selection of Asian literature in English translations. Works selected for study will vary over time according to the availability of texts and examiners' interests and expertise. The majority of works will usually be selected from the work of contemporary Asian authors, with particular reference to South-east and East Asia. Attention will be given to introducing processes of textual analysis and critical reading. Students will be guided by structured questions in the analysis of social, ideological and political themes and characterisation in the works nominated for study.

OBJECTIVES
At the conclusion of this course students will be expected to be able to:

- appreciate and respond critically to a selection of Asian literature;
- identify and discuss critically, Asian writers' concern with social, ideological and political themes in their works;
- demonstrate in their written assignments a basic knowledge of methods of analysing literary texts;
- demonstrate relationships between literary works and the wider cultural context.

OTHER REQUIREMENTS

1. All assignments (including the final examination) must be completed in order for a student to be eligible for a passing grade in this course. The final examination is restricted. An English-language dictionary is permitted in the examination room.

2. On-campus students are strongly advised to attend scheduled classes in order to participate in critical discussion of the texts.

3. Assignments submitted after the due date, and without prior approval of an extension from the examiner, will be penalised at the rate of 10% per working day for the first 5 days late, after which a grade of zero will be awarded.

4. Extensions of time on assignments may be granted on prior presentation of documented medical or compassionate evidence.

5. The final grade is based on the aggregate of all assessment items and is assigned as follows: HD = 90-100, A = 80-89, B = 65-79, C = 50-64, F = 0-49
