RATIONALE
This course will provide an opportunity for doctoral candidates to pursue their research interests in the area that may form the foundation of their EdD proposal and Thesis/Folio. The specialisation chosen by students will enable them to investigate an area of study closely related to their professional interests and needs.

SYNOPSIS
Students will pursue an in depth study within their specialisation area. It will involve an extensive investigation of the literature relevant to the particular focus of the individual's major study area. This will lead to the submission of a written report in a format suitable for publication in a refereed journal. Topics will be based on extensive lecturer-student negotiation. Students may work in small cohort groups which are focussed upon a common area of interest and all students will be supervised by a member of staff within the specialisation.

OBJECTIVES
On successful completion of this course students will be able to:

- discuss current literature relevant to their chosen specialisation area
- demonstrate the ability to plan, conduct and report on an investigation, focused on an issue or topic of significance in a specific area of education that is related to their literature review.
