RATIONALE
Mental health nurses use a variety of therapeutic strategies. When working collaboratively they need an understanding of a range of therapies, when working independently they need an in-depth understanding of the approaches they use.

SYNOPSIS
This course builds on the skills developed in MHN5130 Counselling and Group Work, by exploring and practicing a therapeutic modality. While using the ANZCMHN Standards of Practice for Mental Health Nursing in Australia as a framework for practice, students will develop skills in a therapeutic approach which will enable them to work with clients from across the lifespan and in a range of settings while being aware of the cultural basis of therapeutic strategies and of the need to adapt an inter-cultural approach to clients. Students will be given the opportunity to explore and practice advanced skills in one or more areas of their interest. There is a requirement for 80 hours of preceptored clinical in this course.

OBJECTIVES
On successful completion of this course students will able to:

- demonstrate skills of the student's choice of a particular mental health nursing strategy or therapy;
• demonstrate satisfactory completion of 80 hours of preceptored clinical experience as partial fulfilment of QNC requirements.
