RATIONALE
To become fully aware of the role of the professional psychologist, students need to work within a general psychological practice setting. The practicum requires the student to face some of the broader issues that the practising psychologist typically has to deal with in integrating academic learning with professional application. Students will learn about the function of the discipline of psychology in that setting; the role of other disciplines or professions, and the professional etiquette and ethics involved.

SYNOPSIS
The first Practicum is designed to provide students with a structured situation in a clinical/counselling agency in which appropriate psychological skills can be developed to high levels of competency. It gives the student the opportunity to examine applied problems from a theoretical perspective and to then apply theoretically derived interventions. It promotes a scientist - practitioner model of the professional psychologist. Students will be encouraged to approach applied problems and skill based learning from a hypotheses based assessment perspective. The emphasis is on skill development in a supervised, structured environment. Expert feedback on performance is seen as an essential feature of the learning process and strong emphasis is placed on skill development under adequate supervision.
OBJECTIVES
At the end of the practicum, students will be able to demonstrate competencies as identified in the APS Competencies for Psychologists (1996): Framing, measuring and solving problems, Service implementation, Professional legal and ethical approach, communication and Professional and community relations in a clinical/counselling context. Actual content of the Practicum will include skills as identified in the respective College Competency documents of Sport, Community, and Health. Specifically they will be able to:

1. conduct a preliminary intake interview;
2. formulate questions to guide further assessment and intervention;
3. plan, conduct, and evaluate assessment case studies;
4. plan, conduct and evaluate intervention case studies;
5. demonstrate a working knowledge of the role of psychological interventions within a multidisciplinary team;
6. construct and present case reports in oral and written formats setting.
