Program focus

The Bachelor of Communication offers students a wide range of majors, with opportunities to specialise in Public Relations, Journalism, Communication and Media Studies and Creative Media. These majors can be complemented by a choice of majors from other disciplines within the Faculty, including Anthropology, English Literature, History, Indonesian, International Relations, Language and Culture (Mandarin Chinese or German), Music (Practice or Theory), Social Science, Theatre (Practice or Theory), Visual Arts (Practice or Theory). Students can study beyond the Faculty by taking majors in Science and Education and minors in Business and Engineering. Core studies are also provided in a range of academic skills early in the program. The Bachelor of Communication thus offers a flexible study pattern across several skill and knowledge-bases, while also allowing students to gain substantial progress toward career paths within specific disciplinary or professional fields. Graduates of the Bachelor of Communication should be able to apply both analytical and practical skills to further study, research, and employment in a wide range of careers.

Journalism major

Students prepare for a career in journalism or a related field by reporting, writing, editing, designing and producing for the Web, television, radio, newspapers and magazines. A wide range of knowledge and skills across multiple media, and a focus on hands-on experience, enables students to work in the 21st century’s digital newsrooms. Students are also encouraged to link with industry by undertaking internships as journalists.

Consult the Handbook on the Web at http://www.usq.edu.au/handbook/current for any updates that may occur during the year.

Bachelor of Communication (BCMM) - BCmn (2013)
Career opportunities
Our graduates are working in radio, television, online and print media, throughout Australia and overseas. They include news and specialist reporters, columnists, commentators, copywriters, producers, sub-editors, editors, newscasters and presenters. Journalism skills are also valued in public relations, publishing, law, commerce and business – where experienced journalists have become media officers, publishers, editors, speechwriters for government officials, politicians and executives, and corporate communicators.

Public relations major
Students gain the skills and knowledge to review communication policies within an organisation and develop and implement communication programs and strategies. This major will also equip students with skills required in the industry, such as issues management, specialist writing, how to create public awareness campaigns and how to improve public and media relations. Students will identify communication problems of organisations through appropriate research and strategic planning and develop strategies to overcome these problems.

Students who take the extended 12 point major in Public Relations can take an 8 point major in Marketing if they wish.

Career opportunities
Most organisations recognise the importance of communication to ensure the support of the public, media, government and their own staff. Opportunities exist in the areas of corporate public relations, government communication, lobbying, internal communication, political communication, fund-raising, crisis management, community engagement and liaison and event organisation.

Professional accreditation
This program is accredited with the Public Relations Institute of Australia (PRIA).

Communication and media studies major
This major combines the study of human communication theory with the development of human communication skills. Students will analyse the areas of language, film, television and culture, while learning about interpersonal, group and mass communication, and communication in multicultural societies. Students will develop an understanding of communication problems in society by examining communication processes at all levels.

Career opportunities
Opportunities exist in public relations, communication policy, management, administration and the arts, culture and media industries, teaching and community development.

Creative media
The Creative Media Major offers students wishing to enter the media and multimedia industry a wide choice of courses to choose from to suit individual career goals including entry into careers such as animation, television production, scriptwriting, web design and media teaching. Students are encouraged to write, develop and produce their own projects while gaining a valuable understanding of the business side of creative arts. Students majoring in Journalism and Public Relations will find Creative Media a valuable companion major in terms of gaining practical media experience and insight. This will provide graduates with greater versatility which will increase opportunities in their careers as journalists, public relations and communication specialists.

Program aims
This program aims to produce graduates who have a mastery of a range of communication industry skills, supported by extensive contextual studies in communication/media theory, and professional skills in preferred areas of journalism, public relations and creative media. Students can complement their major study with nominated majors/minors from other Faculties. The program allows specific emphasis on those skills of a mass communication nature that produce graduates who will:
- comprehend and evaluate various explanations of human behaviour;
- understand the need for a high degree of accuracy in written and communication skills in their relevant communication-related industry specialisations;
- demonstrate higher order thinking which will give students a professional edge in communication-related industries;
- demonstrate technical skills that will enable them to be competitive in the work force;
- demonstrate the capacity for ethics, which gives them a sound foundation for the way they conduct their professional lives.

Program objectives

On successful completion of the program students should be able to demonstrate:

- the ability to express themselves with clarity and coherence
- the ability to understand the fundamental nature of the process of communication in a range of mass communication forms including journalism, creative production and public relations
- a knowledge and understanding of the theoretical issues, problems and methodologies of mass communication
- an awareness of the ethical and social responsibilities that are integral to the function of professional endeavours.
- a discriminating application of methods, concepts, techniques and theories in the projects from different professional contexts.

Admission requirements

Admission to the Bachelor of Communication is in accordance with University admission guidelines for undergraduate programs.

International applicants must have met the University's English language requirements or have completed the University's ELICOS/EAP programs.

How to apply

Domestic students

Application for undergraduate programs may be made through the Queensland Tertiary Admissions Centre (QTAC). The same procedure applies whether you plan to study on-campus or by distance education.

If you completed Year 12 at a Queensland secondary school you will be assessed for entry on the basis of your Overall Position (OP) or equivalent score. Year 12 students from other states or territories are considered for entry on the basis of their UAI, ENTER or TER and the subject prerequisites indicated. Other applicants will be based on their overall Rank.

International students

This program is offered to international students. An international student is a person who is not an Australian or New Zealand citizen and not an Australian permanent resident. Please refer to USQ International for information about entry requirements, visa arrangements and how to apply.

Program fees

Commonwealth supported place

A Commonwealth supported place is where the Australian Government makes a contribution towards the cost of your higher education and you as a student pay a student contribution amount, which varies depending on the courses undertaken. You are able to calculate the fees for a particular course via the Course Fee Finder. Commonwealth Supported students may be eligible to defer their fees through a Government loan called HECS-HELP.
Domestic full fee paying place
Domestic full fee paying places are funded entirely through the full fees paid by the student. Full fees vary depending on the courses that are taken. You are able to calculate the fees for a particular course via the Course Fee Finder.

Domestic full fee paying students may be eligible to defer their fees through a Government loan called FEE-HELP provided they meet the residency and citizenship requirements. Australian citizens, Permanent Humanitarian Visa holders, Permanent Resident visa holders and New Zealand citizens who will be resident outside Australia for the duration of their program pay full tuition fees and are not eligible for FEE-HELP.

International full fee paying place
International students pay full fees. Full fees vary depending on the courses that are taken and whether they are studied on-campus, via distance education/online. You are able to calculate the fees for a particular course via the Course Fee Finder.

Program structure
The Bachelor of Communication consists of 24 courses. Students should study the four core courses to help make better informed decisions about their choice of major/s. The structure is:

- 4 x 1 credit point core courses, plus
- 1 x 12 credit point extended major study plus 1 x 8 credit point major study, or
- 1 x 12 credit point extended major study plus 2 x 4 credit point minor studies.

Please note that in either combination above, students can choose the first 12 credit point extended major from Journalism or Public Relations and the 8 credit point major from Creative Media, Communication and Media Studies and other 8 credit point majors within the Faculty or beyond the Faculty. (Available majors are listed in the structure. Further details of these combinations can be obtained from the relevant Program Coordinator. In some instances, however, combinations preferred by individual students may not be available due to quota, timetable or enrolment pattern constraints).

Majors in the Bachelor of Communication from outside the Faculty of Arts

The Faculty of Arts enables students enrolled in the Bachelor of Communication to take one major or two minor studies from programs in other Faculties (see above) after consultation with the Program Coordinator.

Minor studies

Minor studies are designed to enable students to widen their knowledge and perspectives. Courses must be taken over two levels and should be in the same discipline or recognised multi-disciplinary area. Bachelor of Communication students can elect to do two 4 unit minors to replace their 8 unit major.

Students can take one of the minors indicated in the Minor studies section of this Handbook.

Students should take courses to the value of at least four units in the selected Minor Study. Choice of a minor will depend on the availability of the subject area, timetabling constraints, quotas and other restrictions such as auditions and interviews in certain areas of the Arts, as well as the approval of the Student Adviser and confirmation by the Program Coordinator.

Please note that Bachelor of Communication students can take a minor from the Faculty of Engineering. This minor has been structured to complement the 12 point extended major in this program. For further details, please contact the Program Coordinator.

Practical experience

In the Public relations and Journalism majors within this program, on-campus and external students will be required to work on practical, real world projects and in some cases, will be required to work in teams. Public relations students will work on at least two client projects during their study. Students undertaking the journalism major are able to undertake work experience and have this recognised as part of their course through JRN3000 Independent Study.

IT requirements

Access to high-level computers is necessary. On-campus students will access appropriately equipped laboratories, but should consider acquisition of their own computer. External students should be able to access a computer with the following minimum standards:

- Pentium or equivalent, 128Mb Ram, 20Gb 7200 RPM Hard disk, SVGA with at least 32Mb video RAM, Windows 98/2000*, mouse, sound card, CD-RW drive, modem, or
- Apple Mac or equivalent, 12Mb Ram, 20Gb 7200 RPM Hard Disk, 15 inch Monitor, Mac RO 9.2 or later, CD-RW drive, modem
- Preferred browser standards are the latest versions of Internet Explorer or Netscape.

Note: Students with Windows 95 might be able to operate in this program for a short period until an upgrade is acquired.

External students should be able to access a computer with the following minimum standards as advised by the University. All students should have access to email and the Internet via a computer running the latest versions of Internet web browsers such as Internet Explorer or Firefox. The University has a wireless network for on-campus students’ computers. In order to take advantage of this facility and further enhance their on-campus learning environment, students should consider purchasing a notebook/laptop computer with wireless connectivity. A notebook/laptop may be required for some courses.

Exit points

Students, who, for whatever reason, are unable to complete the Bachelor of Communication, but have completed 8 courses, can exit with a Diploma in Arts.
Exemptions and course transfers: Students who have studied elsewhere in courses that may be similar to courses offered within the program are encouraged to discuss the possibility of securing exemptions for some courses or transferring courses. See University of Southern Queensland policy on exemptions and transfers.

Honours: Students can enter the Bachelor of Communication Honours to undertake the Mass Media specialisation.

Enrolment: All students are urged to adhere to the recommended enrolment patterns as detailed in relevant Sections. Completion of enrolment requirements will be necessary before a student will be permitted to enrol in more advanced courses.

Recommended enrolment patterns

On-campus students (full-time)

On-campus students should take courses offered in the on-campus mode and will only be permitted to take courses externally during Semesters 1 and 2 with the approval of their Program Coordinator.

Commencing students

Commencing students are required to enrol in the three core courses in Semester 1: CMS1000, PRL1002 and CMS1010 and should also enrol in JRN1000. Then, commencing students must complete the fourth core course, JRN2010, in S2. The core courses are from major disciplines and will help students to make final decisions about choice of major/s.

Students who wish to enrol in approved majors in the Bachelor of Communication (see http://www.usq.edu.au/handbook/current/arts/BCMM.html#programmajor.studies.overview, for which there is no recommended enrolment pattern listed above should refer to the recommended enrolment pattern for that major in the http://www.usq.edu.au/handbook/current/arts/BART.html#programenrolment.pattern.

Recommended general pattern for first year full-time students

- CMS1000 Communication and Scholarship
- JRN1000 Journalism Practice
- PRL1002 Principles and Practice of Public Relations
- CMS1010 Introduction to Communication Studies

First year enrolment (part-time/external)

- Students should take a maximum of two courses in each semester. Many commencing students find it advisable to enrol in only one course in each semester, or one in Semester 1 and two in Semester 2.
- As a minimum, students should complete the core course CMS1000 by the end of their first year of study. Students are advised to complete as many of the remaining core courses as possible in their first year of study.

Subsequent years of enrolment

- Students should take major courses in each year of study.
- Minor study courses are indicated in the Minor Studies section of this Handbook.
