Program aims

This program aims to produce graduates who have mastery over the professional practice of contemporary communication industry skills, supported by scholarly engagement with communication/media theory. Program objectives

On successful completion of the program students should be able to:

- express themselves with clarity and coherence and in terms of the industry-knowledge of the communication professions
- explain and describe the fundamental nature of the process of communication in a range of communication forms including journalism, public relations, advertising and marketing
- critically examine and describe the theoretical issues, problems and methodologies of the communication professions
- solve problems according to the ethical and social responsibilities that are integral to the function of professional communication
- assess and apply methods, concepts, techniques and theories in projects from different professional communication contexts.

Australian Qualifications Framework

The Australian Qualifications Framework (AQF) is a single national, comprehensive system of qualifications offered by higher education institutions (including universities), vocational education and training institutions and secondary schools. Each AQF qualification has a set of descriptors which define the type and complexity of knowledge, skills and application of knowledge and skills that a graduate who has been awarded that qualification has attained, and the typical volume of learning associated with that qualification type.

This program is at AQF Qualification Level 07. Graduates at this level will have broad and coherent knowledge and skills for professional work and/or further learning.

The full set of levels criteria and qualification type descriptors can be found by visiting www.aqf.edu.au.
